Consultation of rare books

Dear Readers,

The EPFL Library is particularly proud to make available for consultation ancient and rare books that form a cultural and scientific heritage we are happy to share with you today and hope to be able to share for a long time to come with future generations.

This is why, in order to make sure of a respectful usage of these books of delicate and fragile nature, we ask you to follow these few additional consultation rules:

1. The use of ball-point, fountain and felt-tip pens is not allowed near these documents. Only lead pencils can be used.

2. In order to handle bindings carefully, please open the book at the middle and consult it forward or backward with care.

3. Justified photocopies (specific tasks, PhD students, researchers) of maps, illustrations or particular sequences can, as far as possible, be obtained with the approval of the person in charge and according to the books’ condition. This service is free of charge for EPFL professors and researchers. For external readers, the cost is CHF 8.- for up to 20 pages, and CHF .20 per additional page.

Concerned with promoting its rare collection, the EPFL Library is also highly interested in getting copies of works achieved using these documents. Therefore, if you’re writing a dissertation or an article, we would be happy to make it available to our readers and invite you to inform our librarians about it.

We thank you for your diligence and wish you an excellent study.

The EPFL Library staff